MR. ESSER TOOK POISON

WITH THE INTENT TO COMMIT
SUICIDE EARLY LAST EVENING.

WAS OUT OF WORK, HENCE DESPONDENT

Told Friends and Relatives of His Intention, but as He Had Been Drinking No Attention
Was Paid to Words.

Casper Esser, a Missouri Pacific carpenter, swallowed the contents of an ounce bottle of carbolic acid with suicidal intent at his home, 1209
South Harrison avenue, at 8:15 o'clock last night, and died at 12:45
o'clock this afternoon.

He leaves a wife, to whom he was married thirty years ago on January 12,
ten children, his mother, four brothers and three sisters. He was 56 years old and was a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Esser had been employed as a carpenter at the new shops, but was temporarily laid off on January 1, since which time he had not worked. He had been drinking heavily for several days.

He visited the Stag saloon last night, and told his friends good-bye,
for the next time he met them, he said, it would be in a different place.
He immediately went home and told his daughters that he was going to kill himself.

Little attention was paid to his threat, and fifteen minutes later he was discovered missing. Dr. M. T.
Collins was summoned, and on searching the premises found the father lying unconscious by the side of a rear fence. By his side lay an empty ounce bottle, labeled carbolic acid.

Esser was carried into the house
and alcohol was administered to check the poison's effects, but the patient never regained consciousness, and expired at the hour stated.

Funeral services will be held at Sacred Heart church at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

Deceased's children follow: John Esser, Henry Esser, an M. K. & T.
fireman; Anna, Lizzie, Josie, Joe,
Dora, Mary, Aggie and Louise Esser.
All live in Sedalia. The brothers are:
John Esser, St. Louis; Fred Esser,
Sedalia; Frank and Henry Esser,
Cole Camp.

The sisters are: Mrs. Frank Eschbacher, whose husband committed suicide less than six months ago;
Mrs. George Partlett and Mrs. Kate
Swartz, all of Sedalia, and the mother,
Mrs. Mary Esser, who makes her home with Mrs. Swartz.

Coroner Morley decided an inquest unnecessary.

DEATH OF DILL BLAIR

Body Will Be Brought Here Tomorrow
Morning.

A telegram was received here this morning announcing the death of Dill
Blair, a brother of Conductor C. E.
Blair, at Memphis, Tenn., yesterday,
after a lingering illness with loco-
motor ataxia, aged about 50 years.

The deceased was for many years
a resident of Sedalia, and was for a long time employed as foreman of J.
West Goodwin's bookbindery. His wife, formerly Miss Laura Boyd, of Sedalia, and three children, survive,
and are now residents of the state of California.

Mr. Blair's brother, Conductor Blair, was with him when the end came,
and will arrive here at 8:15 o'clock
tomorrow morning on M. K. & T.
train with the remains, which will be taken direct to Crown Hill cemetery
for interment, as the funeral services were held at Memphis.

A host of friends will read of the demise of Mr. Blair with sorrow, as he was one of the most popular gentlemen that ever dwelt in the Prairie Queen.

SOLD FARM FOR $46,000

Mrs. A. P. Morey Disposes of the Former Gentry Place.

The Major Gentry farm, owned by Mrs. A. P. Morey and located two and one-half miles northwest of Sedalia, was sold by Mrs. Morey's son, Walter Morey, Monday, to W. S. Cotton,

the consideration being $46,000. The farm comprises 624 acres.

On February 8, Walter Morey, who,
with his family, has until recently made his home on the premises, will hold a closing out sale of farm implements, machinery, stock, etc.

State Commander Is Here.

Mrs. Mae A. E. Sommers, of St.
Louis, state commander for the Lady Maccabees, arrived today and is a guest at the Huckins hotel. Mrs.
Sommers will meet with Queen City aive tomorrow afternoon for the installation of officers-elect, initiation of new candidates and for the transaction of other business that may come before the meeting. After adjournment supper will be had at the

ROW OVER VACCINATION

J. E. O'BANNON ASKS FOR A WRIT
OF MANDAMUS AGAINST SCHOOL BOARD.

APPLICATION MADE TO JUDGE HOFFMAN

Two Children Have Been Vaccinated
Internally, but This Does Not Comply With Edict of Educational Board.

J. E. O'Bannon, an agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, living at 1403 South Monticau avenue, through Attorneys C. C. Lawson and G. W. Barnett, today applied to Circuit Judge Louis Hoffman for a writ of mandamus to compel the Sedalia Board of Education to permit
his two children, aged 8 and 11 years, respectively, to attend the public schools, contrary to the edict issued by the board that no child shall be permitted to attend school who refuses to be vaccinated.

Mr. O'Bannon alleges that if teachers of the public schools comply with the board's edict they will necessarily make lawbreakers out of the parents, as the compulsory school attendance law compels parents to send their children to school under a penalty of a fine or imprisonment.

The petitioner states that the edict compelling vaccination is unreasonable, oppressive and unconstitutional, and violates and interferes with the liberty of parents.

In the concluding chapter the petitioner prays the court to set aside the illegal edict and compel the board to permit his children to attend school, whether vaccinated or not.

The board of education is composed of Dr. H. B. Cole, W. H. Fowell,
A. W. McKenzie, Charles Hoffman,
W. M. Johns and J. T. Montgomery, who, on or about January 12, issued an order that all children must present a certificate from a physician certifying to the fact that they have been vaccinated.

This action was taken to prevent a smallpox epidemic among school children, as a number of cases of the disease had already developed in the city.

Mr. O'Bannon was conversed with over the telephone this morning and stated that both his children, Maple, aged 11, and Omar, had been vaccinated internally by Dr. H. L. Barnum, but had not been vaccinated
with vaccine virus.

ODOR OF BURNING FLESH

Leads to Belief That Persons Alive
Are Being Consumed.

Messina, Jan. 19.—A serious fire broke out here today among the ruins of the wrecked city.

The remains of Pennesa palace fell
in and added to the conflagration.
The flames are spreading, in spite of the work of the soldiers to control
them, and the situation is serious.

The odor of burning flesh is mingled with the smoke, and it is feared persons alive are being consumed.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS TODAY

Three Persons Were Killed and Number of Buildings Damaged.

Smyrna, Jan. 19.—A sharp earthquake was experienced here this morning, but there was no local damage.

Twenty miles northwest a number of houses fell. Three persons were killed. Buildings were damaged in other towns.

A SUGGESTION

Liberty Enlightening the World.—(Altered to meet the recently expressed views of our president.)

COL. J. R. RIPPEY IS DEAD

HE PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME,
LANCASTER, MO., SUNDAY,
AGED 68 YEARS.

THE BURIAL TOOK PLACE THERE MONDAY

Was Secretary of State Fair Seven Years, and Was Truly One of the Very Best of Missouri's Citizenship.

Col. J. R. Rippey, for seven years
secretary of the Missouri state fair,
during which period he resided in Sedalia, has crossed the great divide and gone to join the silent majority on the other side. He was a model citizen in all that the term implies.
May he rest in peace.

Col. Rippey's death and burial was written of as follows in the Columbia Tribune of Monday.

Col. John R. Rippey, one of Missouri's well known and prominent citizens, secretary of the board of agriculture for eight years and as such a citizen of Columbia during this time,
died yesterday at his home in Lancaster, Mo., aged about 68 years. Funeral services were held this afternoon in Lancaster.

Col. Rippey had been in public life in Missouri for twenty-five years, and the most of his official duties connected him intimately with Columbia.
He was a member of the board of curators of the university when Mar-maduke was governor and was instrumental in securing the $100,000 appropriation with which the wings were added to the original university building, destroyed by fire in 1892.

He was again curator during the administration of Governor Stone and did effective work in the interest of the university. It was during Governor Stone's administration that he was elected secretary of the board of agriculture. In this position he was the staunch friend and supporter of the agricultural college and not a little of the growth and development of this institution is due to his energy and loyalty.

When the Missouri state fair was established, Col. Rippey was chosen secretary by the directors. He effected the organization of the enterprise and did the pioneer work so well that although the Missouri state fair is the youngest association of its kind it has the best buildings and is the best equipped of any in the country. It was the arduous work in connection with the state fair that undermined Col. Rippey's health and his ailments were largely due to this.

Deceased was always the ardent friend of Columbia and the institutions located here. He was a gentleman of ability, always genial and gracious, and had many friends in Columbia. They will sincerely mourn his passing.

Vaccination and Examination.

The pupils of the public schools are now taking their mid-year examination. Many of them are also suffering from sore arms and sickness
the result of being vaccinated ten days or two weeks ago. It is unfortunate that the two should come together. Many pupils who under normal conditions would get good grades
with ease are now worrying for fear
they will not be able to do themselves
justice in the week's examinations.

STORM JAIL, HANG NEGRO

THE CITY LIGHTS ARE CUT OFF
FIRST BY MOB AT HOPE, ARKANSAS.

SWINGING BODY RIGGLED WITH BULLETS

Victim Had Spoken Insultingly to a Young Woman Clerk in a Local Store—Feeling Ran High Ever Since.

Hope, Ark., Jan. 19.—After forcing the engineer of the light plant to cut off the current, leaving the town in darkness at 5 o'clock yesterday, a party of young men took a negro named Hilliard from the county jail
and hanged him to a telegraph pole
in front of the Iron Mountain station.
The negro had spoken insultingly
to a woman clerk in Haynes Bros' store Friday. Since that time feeling ran high, though no thought was given that lynching would be attempted, and this morning only the jailer was on duty, the sheriff being out of town, when the lynchers attacked the jail and overpowered the jailer. Hilliard was only 18 years old.

The lynchers wore masks and their identity is unknown. Many shot-were fired into the swinging body of the negro.

STONE STILL CONFIDENT

CERTAIN TO BE RE-ELECTED TO
UNITED STATES SENATE
TOMORROW.

THE REPUBLICANS ARE NOW IN BAD ROW

"Dick" Kerens Friends are Contesting
With John C. McKinley for the Empty Honor at Hands of Republicans.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Since
the democratic caucus last night
showed beyond all question of doubt that the enemies of Senator William J. Stone had failed to instigate sedition charges against him, the republicans abandoned all hope this morning of encompassing his defeat,
and are now wrangling in secret concealment over the question of whether they shall or shall not regard the party primary and vote for John C.
McKinley for the Senate.

A certain element in the house majority, principally the Kerens crowd, is anxious to pass a resolution declaring the primary choice non-binding, thus releasing them from any obligation to vote for McKinley.

In case this resolution is adopted, Kerens will receive some votes in the house this afternoon, when the balloting begins at 3:30 o'clock.

There was also a remand from certain republican quarters that in case
the caucus decides that the entire vote should be cast for McKinley, that he be first pledged to contest
the election of Stone, on the grounds of fraudulent primary. The knowledge that McKinley could be forced to promise such an action off hand put an early damper on his plan. The fact that the republicans are engaged in such a controversy is conclusive proof that all hope of beating Stone is gone.

If there remained the slightest chance of electing a republican by the aid of baiting democrats they would not now be busy with intense dissension. That is the fact that makes the seemingly unimportant matter of deciding upon a candidate who shall receive merely a complimentary vote
almost a significant one.

The senate convened at 10 o'clock,
but adjourned immediately until 2:30,
when the nominating speeches will be made.

By 4 o'clock the balloting in both houses should be completed.

At noon it was conceded on all sides that Senator Stone's re-election,
as stated in the Democrat-Sentinel,
yesterday is but a matter of time,
the clock's ticking off the minutes until
the two houses meet in joint session
at noon tomorrow.

Vote in the Senate.

Jefferson City, Jan. 19.—The vote
in the senate resulted: Stone, 23; McKinley, 11. This was a strict party vote.

Negress Released on Parole.

Criminal Judge Hoffman today accepted the bond of Sadie Moss, a negress sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary for robbery, and she was given her parole. Dr. C. S.
Walden and Isaac Adkins are her bondsmen.

A SUIT BY CONTRACTORS

ASK FOR $40,000 CHARGING A BREACH OF CONTRACT IN PAYMENT FOR WORK.

PLAINTIFFS ARE NOW IN BANKRUPTCY

M. K. and T. Does Not Deny Indebtedness, but Is Withholding Payment Until Affairs of Plaintiffs Are Adjusted.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 19.—One of the largest suits ever instituted in Oklahoma county was begun here
when Davis Bros. & Burke, contractors, with general offices in Shawnee,
Okla., filed suit in the district court against the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway for $40,000 for an alleged breach of contract.

According to the petition, the plaintiffs entered into an agreement more than a year ago with the defendants to revise and reconstruct the defendant's road on the Lime Stone Gap
and Crowder City divisions, in Indian Territory, for which they were to receive $100,000. This work they claim has been completed, and they allege they have been refused payment by the defendant.

The work was part of the revising and reconstructing of the road from Denison, Texas, to Parsons, Kan. In the work which the plaintiffs allege they have completed, cutting down
grades and the straightening of curves
was the principal labor.

More than six months ago the plaintiffs were declared bankrupt and it is held by the defendant that this is the reason that the payment for the work has been held up.

DuMars & Vaughn, counsel for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway, state that they did not deny the claim of the plaintiffs, but that the road had deemed it advisable to withhold payment, owing to the bankruptcy proceedings and because numerous attachments had been placed on the work, and that protection from having to pay the bills twice was their reason for refusing to pay.

W. A. Burke, city engineer, is a member of the firm. Attorney O. C.
Black filed the suit.

DEATH OF MRS. CLABAUGH

Funeral Service at M. E. Church,
South, in Lamonte.

Mrs. Alice Clabaugh, wife of Emmett S. Clabaugh, who has been ill with a complication of diseases about a week, died at her home, two miles west of Lamonte, at 10 o'clock Monday night.

She was 26 years of age and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Staples, of Lamonte.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three little daughters.

The funeral services will be conducted Wednesday by Rev. S. G. Welborn, at the M. E. church, South, in Lamonte, of which the deceased was a member, and the burial will be made in the Lamonte cemetery.

VOTED FOR SENATOR GORE

Democrats Did, but Republicans Voted for Flynn.

Guthrie, Ok., Jan. 19.—The house
and senate today voted separately for United States senator. Senator Gore, democrat, received the straight party vote and will be formally re-elected tomorrow by the joint session.
The minority vote was cast for Dennis T. Flynn.

NOT TO BUY THE M., K. & T.

PRESIDENT A. H. JOLINE SETS
AT REST THE HARRIMAN-HILL RUMORS.

WHAT HE TOLD A REPORTER AT DALLAS

Unlike Any Other Railway in United States, There Is No Single Interest That Controls
the Katy's Stock.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 19.—Answering
the inquiry as to the truth of the reports that the Katy would be purchased by either the Harriman or the Hill systems, President A. H. Joline,
who was here yesterday on a tour of inspection, said:

"There is absolutely no truth in these reports. I am quite certain that neither Mr. Hill nor Mr. Harriman desire to buy a controlling interest in the Katy.

"In the first place, this would be rather a hard matter, as there are two reasons that would prevent them
from buying a control of the road.

"One reason is that no single interest could turn over the control, and the other is that if they went into the market to buy, stocks would be forced up to almost prohibitive prices."

"Unlike any other railroad in the United States," continued President Joline, "there is no single interest on individual that controls the stock."

"There are several very substantial gentlemen in Holland owners of Katy preferred. One of these gentlemen said to me some time ago: 'My father er handed this (Katy) stock down to me, and I will hand it down to my children,' which statement serves but to illustrate the confidence our stockholders have in the road."

Commenting upon the report that James J. Hill desires the Katy as a southwestern outlet for the Burlington road, Mr. Joline said:

"There is but one way that Mr.
Hill could buy the Katy, according to my judgment, and I do not believe he contemplates an endeavor to purchase a controlling interest in the road."

"Some time after the reports of the Burlington-Katy deal I met Mr.
Hill and stated to him that I understood he was buying Katy stock and seeking to secure a control.

"I told him that whenever he secured control my resignation was at his service. He laughingly replied that he did not own a share of Katy
stock, and that he was not contemplating buying any."

"I am equally as confident that Mr.
Harriman is not after a controlling interest in the Katy. In fact, I understand that he stated some time ago
that he did not care to buy our road,
in reply to the inquiry why he did not do so instead of building the extension of the Houston and Texas Central from Denison north to Ken-sas City."

THE CASE STILL A MYSTERY

Robinson and Taft Were Both Before the Grand Jury.

New York, Jan. 19.—With the complaints in the main issue involved still unidentified, Judge Ward, in the United States circuit court, today received briefs from the attorneys engaged in the preliminary of what is believed to be criminal proceedings
by the federal government growing out of the recent newspaper criticisms of the Panama canal purchase.

Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of President Roosevelt, and Charles P.
Taft, of Cincinnati, were both before the grand jury today. Both refused to give any information regarding their testimony.

A VICTORY FOR THE CITY.

Mayor Babcock and the city council are to be congratulated that they have forced the gas company to at least recognize them. And the fact that this corporation has consented to install a real photometer is proof positive that the "dingbat" they attempted to palm off on the people as a photometer, as required by their contract with the city, was simply a fake—that and nothing more.

The assertion by the local management, as an excuse for the non-compliance of their obligation to the city, that no one in Sedalia could read a photometer other than the "dingbat" they had installed, amounts to nothing. Let them comply with the terms of their franchise, and the city council will provide for the proper interpretation of the machine. Further, if this company will remember its obligation to the citizens in all respects, treating people civilly, recognizing the fact that Sedalians have some degree of intelligence, that the company officials haven't all the brains, we say if they will accept these facts and act accordingly, they will realize that the people do appreciate good service and decent, business-like treatment.

The Democrat-Sentinel can not be blamed for feeling especially pleased at the outcome of this little "fight" of the city council with the gas company, as it is a result this paper has long contended for.

While the city officials are negotiating with these eastern capitalists, would it not be well to have an understanding about this minimum charge business? It amounts to many dollars in the course of time, and is clearly illegal.

Again, gentlemen of the council, permit us to congratulate you. The people are with you.

SENATORIAL DIGNITY'S VALUE.

We have heard much and read more about the dignity that attaches to the senatorial toga, and the general atmosphere of sanctity which pervades the chamber wherein these men do daily congregate. It has remained, however, for an Arkansas justice to place a monetary value upon this asset of the senatorial position. His valuation, for some unknown reason, however, is believed to be just a little bit below par. Probably he has not heard or read so much about the sanctity of the senate, or probably he has met a senator or two. At any rate, says the St. Louis Star, he considered an assault upon senatorial dignity worth just one round dollar—and costs, of course.

Last August, so runs the story, while Senator Jeff Davis was making a speech in a small town in his native state, some one threw an egg at him. It matters not that the egg went wide of its mark and hit a friend. It matters not whether it was a good or bad egg. It matters not what the actuating motive might have been, the fact remains that it was an assault, pure and simple, upon the senatorial atmosphere, which surrounds a member of the American house of lords, the most distinguished and dignified body of lawmakers to be found anywhere.

Time ran on, and so did the story. The egg-thrower was brought before the bar of justice a few days ago. The gravity of his offense was lengthily discussed by learned lawyers and carefully weighed in the scales of justice by a discriminating jurist. He (the egg-thrower) was fined one dime, scarcely the value of the egg itself during the holiday season.

Shades of Teddy and his attack on Tillman, what's the senate coming to, anyhow?

MORE MINE DISASTERS.

The gas explosion in the Lick Barrow colliery, West Virginia, following the disaster of two weeks ago in the same mine, and that in the Zeiger mine in Illinois shows how difficult is the problem confronting the men of science and government agents who are studying the subject, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The West Virginia mine was acknowledged to be a well constructed plant. The experts had certified its merits only just before the explosion of two weeks ago, and again had pronounced it safe only a few hours before the explosion of Tuesday. But today they confess ignorance of the cause of it.

In Europe considerable progress has been made toward securing safety to the miners by government regulation and inspection. But in this country attempts to regulate by the state authority have been enfeebled and often defeated by the greed of the operators. It is doubtful if there is a mining plant in this country that is provided with all the precautions of safety considered absolutely necessary in Europe.

The national authorities, however, have taken up the matter. It is possible that they, co-operating with the state governments and the wiser mine owners will, in the course of time, bring the industry up to the European standard, and perhaps above it.

The business is perilous in its nature, and probably the best laid schemes can not eliminate all the elements of danger. But we can at least hope for such regulation as will protect the miner from those accidents which are the result of cruel and greedy indifference.

CHILD LABOR DAYS.

The profound harm done to the very fiber of the nation by the unhealthy work of children is not as thoroughly realized in the west as in the east, probably because, in proportion to the population, we have fewer large factories and mines employing children. But the evil exists in Missouri, particularly in the three larger cities.

The bill passed by the last legislature did some good, but did not entirely wipe out the practice. False affidavits pertaining to the age of the child make it easy to cheat, and no doubt thousands of children are at work in Missouri through the perjury of their parents.

Children of tender years have been found working at looms in mills, and dipping candy in candy factories, says the St. Joseph News-Press. Often their hours were quite as long as those of mature workers, and almost invariably they were stunted physically, mentally and morally. They had round shoulders, hollow chests and weak eyes. Their schooling was usually a matter of a few weeks or months, and, as was commonly the case in large establishments, their associations were anything but wholesome.

Magistrates before whom affidavits are made should require the parent to produce the child in person, to the end that he may withhold credentials in the event of a too obvious intent to cheat the law. Too much importance can not be attached to the enforcement of the child labor law. Henceforth, the child is to have a "day," just as the tree has had a "day," and Saturday and Sunday next are the first of them, after which they will recur annually. On these days sermons on child labor will be preached in several St. Joseph pulpits, and an hour devoted to listening to one of these will be time well spent.

Pistol Shots Explained.

Three pistol shots emanating from the vicinity of Fifth street and Missouri avenue, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock Monday night, startled the residents of that locality, but investigation today revealed the fact that two Central Business college students, living in the locality, had discharged two revolvers to prove their proper working order before they traded weapons.

HICKS
THE GROCER

DEAD, ON A BURNING BED

Beauty Doctor Woodbury Meets End at Coney Island.

New York, Jan. 19.—John H. Woodbury, the "dermatologist" who for years was head of the "institute" which bore his name, was found dead in bed in his room at the Seaclyff Inn, Coney Island, just before noon yesterday. The hotel was closed for the season, but Woodbury had remained there. The body was discovered by the caretaker, Louis Bowers. Woodbury had shot himself. The bed on which Woodbury's body was lying was on fire when Bowers entered the room.

Woodbury was 58 years old. His widow is in Staten Island. Recently he had had trouble with Stephen Emmons, a contractor who was building a row of houses for him at Coney Island. Emmons had brought about the arrest of the "beauty doctor" in a suit for slander. Mrs. Ernestine Dillon, lessee of the hotel, had Woodbury arrested last summer for disorderly conduct. It was said that he had paraded up and down the corridors somewhat unclad. The county medical society got after Woodbury's institute for advertising to practice medicine without a license. The court of special sessions imposed a fine. The "beauty doctor" was best known as the head of the John H. Woodbury Dermatological Institute, which was widely advertised.

DIES IN A CHARITY WARD

Father of Mrs. W. E. Corey Stricken With Heart Failure.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—Charles Henry Gilman, father of Maybelle Gilman Corey, wife of W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, died here yesterday of heart failure.

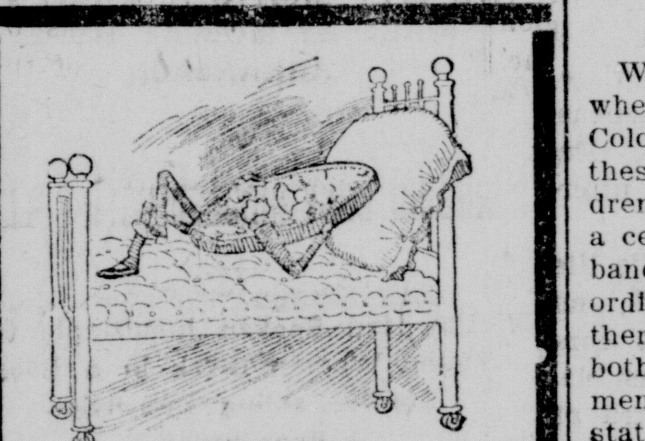

Mr. Gilman was stricken with apoplexy Jan. 14 while riding on a street car. His death occurred at the Hahnemann hospital, where he was being cared for at the expense of the city, having been removed to the hospital the day following his seizure. A telegram announcing the death of Gilman was sent to Mrs. Corey by Pearl and Emilee Gilman, younger daughters of the deceased, who were at the bedside, but no answer has been received.

Gilman opposed the marriage of Maybelle to Corey, and is said to have been estranged from his eldest daughter ever since.

Fencing with Umbrellas.

Recently a French publication printed a picture of some American girls fencing with umbrellas and stated that they were trying to acquire thus the necessary skill and assurance to parry, with a simple gesture, an attack of Apaches.

It is also stated that this sport was not born in America; that for several years in France a noted fencing mistress, Mme. Guillemot, at the same time that she taught fencing with the sword, for hygienic reasons, and for personal defence, also taught her pupils to "play" with the umbrella.

The article finishes by saying that it is certainly "piquant" that this modern application of an ancient sport was taught by a Parisienne long before America claimed the original idea.

What He Overlooked.

"I might have known that you would refuse me," said the poor but otherwise honest young man who had failed to impress the fair maid. "There was a metallic ring in your voice when I entered the parlor that boded me no good."

"Had you been a little more observant," she rejoined, "you might also have noticed a metallic ring on my finger that Charlie Grottox placed there last night."

Thirty seconds later his feet were following each other on the home-ward trail.

Where Sexes Are Equal.

Women are privileged to make a will when 18 years of age in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, and in these states the wife and minor children are entitled to a homestead and a certain allowance out of her husband's estate, which has priority over ordinary debts. Also in these states there is equality of inheritance for both sexes, women having been instrumental in making the laws of these states.

Not to Be Frightened.

HONOR MEMORY OF POE

AT POE PARK, IN NEW YORK CITY, A BRONZE STATUE WAS DEDICATED.

CELEBRATION AT CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA

The One Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Poet Was Observed in Boston, Mass., and Baltimore, Md.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Edgar Allan Poe centennial was observed in the metropolis today by the dedication of a bronze statue in Poe Park, opposite Fordham college, readings and recitations from Poe's works in the public schools in the Bronx, lectures on the poet and his works in the public lecture courses and commemorative exercises in New York university, which is near the Fordham home of Poe.

Charlottesville Celebration. Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 19.—An international turn was given the Poe centennial celebration at the University of Virginia today by the address of Dr. Alcee Fortier, of New Orleans, on Poe's influence on French literature, and an address in English by Prof. George Edward, recently of Munich, Germany, on Poe's influence on German literature.

In addition to these two speeches there were continental tributes both in prose and poetry. At this meeting the chairman of the committee of arrangements, Dr. Charles W. Kent, presided.

This evening the president of the university, Dr. E. A. Alderman, will make a brief introductory address and will then present to the audience Prof. Barrett Wendell, of Harvard university, well known in America and Europe as an accomplished scholar and interesting speaker.

Hundreds of admirers of Poe today visited room No. 13, West Range, which has been transformed into a Poe museum. All of the available mementoes of Poe are there collected and will remain on view through the balance of the week.

Poe Lamponed Boston.

Boston, Jan. 19.—Although this city was lampooned unmercifully by Edgar Allan Poe, the literary elite of the Hub today joined in paying gracious tribute to the memory of the great poet on this, the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Boston claims to be the birthplace of Poe, and although this was denied by the poet himself, who asserted that he arrived in this world by the way of Baltimore, the claim is still being made by many citizens of this good old town which Poe satirized under the name of Frognodum.

The City of His Birth.

Baltimore, Jan. 19.—Baltimore has been the birthplace of many men who have attained international name and fame, but of these many none occupy so high a place as Edgar Allan Poe. In this Monumental City, where the brilliant genius of American letters first saw the light of day and where at last his melancholy spirit gave up the long fight against tremendous odds, the centenary of his birth is being fittingly observed today.

The formal celebrations are the smallest part of the celebration, the larger part being the spirit of loving remembrance which is present today in the heart and brain of every true son of Baltimore.

Today's observance was under the auspices of the Poe Memorial association, which was incorporated last year. The faculty of Johns Hopkins university participated in the plans and addresses were made by some of the leading literary lights of the land. The association plans to erect a $20,000 monument to Poe in this city.

Recalls Poe's Mother.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19.—An article

in a copy of the Norfolk Herald for July 26, 1811, supplies an interesting reminiscence of Mrs. David Poe, the actress mother of the great poet whose centenary is being celebrated today. Mrs. Poe was really a great actress in her prime, but in later years she fell upon hard times, and the newspaper article in question relates to a benefit to be given for her in Norfolk. David Poe, the father of the poet, died of consumption in this city when Edgar Allan Poe was a baby, and left Mrs. Poe destitute.

It is stated in the newspaper story that Mrs. Poe made her first appearance upon a Norfolk stage when in her teens, and was said to be "one of the handsomest women in America."

The appreciation continues: "She never came on the stage but a general murmur ran through the house, 'What an enchanting creature. Heavens, what a form! Her voice, too! Sure never anything was half so sweet!' Year after year she continued to extract these involuntary bursts of rapture from the Norfolk audience, and to deserve them, too; for never did one of her profession take more pains to please than she. But now, 'the scene is changed,' misfortunes have pressed heavily upon her. Left alone, the only support of herself and several young children—friendless and unprotected—she no longer commands the admiration she formerly did. Shame on the world that can turn its back on the same person in distress that it was wont to cherish in prosperity. And yet she is as assiduous to please as ever and though grief may have stolen a few of the roses from her cheeks still she retains the same sweetness of expression and symmetry of form and features. She this evening hazards a benefit, in the pleasing hope that the people of Norfolk will remember her past services. And can they remember and not requite them generously?"

A Romance of Poe.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 19.—In connection with today's celebration of the centenary of Edgar Allan Poe, a famous portrait of Mrs. Sarah Helen Whitman and many documents of rare interest bearing on her romance with the great poet were presented to the library of Brown university.

John N. Arnold, the artist who executed the portrait many years ago, and Mrs. Henry R. Chance, of this city, who is in possession of many of the letters connected with Poe's wooing of Mrs. Whitman, are the donors of the gifts to the Brown library.

At the time of his death in 1849, Poe was engaged to be married to Mrs. Whitman, a wealthy widow of this city, and who was a year or two his senior. It was while he was on his way to visit Mrs. Whitman that the author died.

The portrait of Mrs. Whitman was painted by Mr. Arnold 39 years ago, and was intended for this Providence Athenaeum and was bequeathed by her to that institution. The portrait was paid for, but never was called for, and has remained these years in Mr. Arnold's studio, while another portrait of Mrs. Whitman hangs in the Athenaeum.

The letters which Mrs. Chance will present to the university were found among Mrs. Whitman's papers, which two or three years ago came into Mrs. Chance's possession. These letters have formed the basis of several magazine articles on Poe. They make certain the fact which some persons denied, that Poe and Mrs. Whitman were engaged to be married, since among them is Poe's own request for the publishing of the bans of marriage. There is also a letter written by Mrs. Whitman which reveals that an engagement existed between herself and Poe.

WAS ESTATE MISMANAGED?

Widow of Magnate Wants Executor Owsley Ousted.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of Charles T. Yerkes, traction magnate, filed a petition before Judge Charles Scuttling in the probate court last afternoon asking the removal of the executor, Louis S. Owsley, on the ground that he has wasted and mismanaged the assets.

A number of charges are made, the chief of which is an allegation that Mr. Owsley's motives were not of the best when he agreed with a committee in Oct., 1907, for the deposit of $4,940,000 in general mortgage bonds of the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co. as part of a plan of the organization of that company.

Other charges are that Mr. Owsley attempted to sell certain real and personal property contrary to the direction of the will, which provided that the property should be transferred to a corporation for the purpose of establishing an art gallery or art galleries in New York.

Good Authority.

A Cincinnati paper, having spoken of people as "summering" at watering place, one of its residents asks ironically: "Would it be correct to say that a man is 'falling' in New York, or 'springing' in the mountains?" Unluckily language does not run by logic. As for summer as a verb, is not Isaiah good enough authority? Of the mountains he says: "The fowls shall summer upon them, and all the beasts of the earth shall winter upon them."

Proper Enough.

"Gracious, children, stop that noise," cried mamma.
"But we're playing war," replied the eldest.

HASKELL PLAYED TRICK

SCOTT McREYNOLDS, OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., ARRESTED IN GUTHRIE.

N. Y. JOURNAL LIBEL SUIT DATA TAKEN

Governor's Private Counsel Seizes Papers and Sends Them to Capital—Conspiracy Charged in the Warrant.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 19.—Scott McReynolds, of Brooklyn, N. Y., an attorney for William R. Hearst, who has been in Oklahoma several months collecting data for the libel suit for $600,000 against Hearst, instituted in Omaha, Neb., by Governor Charles N. Haskell, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant sworn out by the governor, charging McReynolds with conspiracy.

Haskell also had a search warrant issued, and McReynolds' person and room at the Lone hotel were searched by Sheriff John Mahoney and Orville T. Smith, private counsel to the governor, who seized copies of data and evidence secured by McReynolds.

It happened that McReynolds had forwarded to the New York office the originals of all the reports he has made, having in his possession only copies, all of which Smith immediately took to the governor's private office. McReynolds did not know Smith and supposed he was a deputy assisting Sheriff Mahoney.

In the warrant sworn out for McReynolds Governor Haskell made oath that McReynolds had conspired with John Doe and others, and had offered John Doe $5,000 to publish articles defamatory of the governor. McReynolds denies this emphatically.

McReynolds did not resist arrest or the search of his room, but immediately telephoned to former Chief Justice John H. Burford, employing him as counsel. Burford accompanied McReynolds to the county court, where the warrants had been sworn out, and demanded to know the whereabouts of the papers taken in the search.

For the first time it was then known that Smith had the papers at the governor's office, where he was going through them for the alleged purpose of making a list of them. County Judge Strang ordered Sheriff Mahoney to bring the papers into court immediately. Strang still has them in his possession, overruling all attempts made by both Smith, who was acting for Haskell, and County Attorney "Jim" Heburne to get possession of them. Judge Strang refused to hear arguments in the case until today, when it was continued until next Monday.

Both Smith and County Attorney Heburne asked that McReynolds be put under bond, but Judge Burford stood good for his appearance in court tomorrow and no bond was required. Judge Strang announced the first point he would decide would be whether any legal seizure of McReynolds' private papers could be made, the legality of which was denied by McReynolds and his counsel.

McReynolds in his work in Oklahoma represents Clarence J. Shearn, of 140 Nassau street, New York, general counsel for all of Mr. Hearst's New York publications. McReynolds has secured a vast amount of data, practically all of which was secured in confidence, and in a statement made last night he says:

"Governor Haskell's purpose in causing my arrest and the search of my room was to secure possession of this data, to ascertain its importance and to ascertain from whom I obtained it."

McReynolds' data, it is understood, covers various investigations that have been made in Oklahoma during Mr. Haskell's public career, much of which was aired just prior to Haskell's resignation as treasurer of the democratic national committee last fall.

His data is said to include school text book matters, interesting oil and natural gas disclosures, town site matters now being investigated by federal inspectors at Muskogee, and Standard Oil charges against Haskell, and various other matters. Had Governor Haskell's plan worked, and had he been permitted to keep possession of McReynolds' papers, he would have learned not only all of Hearst's secrets collected by McReynolds, but very much relating to other investigations made by federal and other inspectors in this state regarding oil, townsites and other matters.

Concerning McReynolds' arrest, Governor Haskell said last night:

"I would not offer the slightest interference in their search for the truth, but the time has come in Oklahoma when vicious slander and false statements must be made, if at all, at the risk of the party who so recklessly violates the law. Regardless of the position the person may hold, whether he hold high official position, whether he be a man of small or of great affairs, they all look alike to the laws of Oklahoma, and every last one of them shall look an honest Oklahoma jury in the face and justify their outrageous conduct if they can. The arrest of McReynolds is only the beginning, and other conspirators will have the same opportunity to square themselves with a jury of honest people."

GMEICH'S NET GAIN 139

Small Percentage of Rejected Ballots in St. Louis German Wards.

St. Louis, Jan. 19.—When the Missouri legislature's joint committee completed recounting the ballots in the first ten wards of St. Louis and adjourned at 6 o'clock last night until next Thursday, Gmeich, republican, had made a net gain in the recount of 139 votes over Painter, democrat, for lieutenant governor.

Gmeich, who had a net gain of 169 Saturday, suffered a net loss of thirty today in the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth wards. Gmeich gained sixty over Painter in the Sixth, but fell behind fifteen in the Seventh, thirty in the Eighth, seven in the Ninth, twenty-two in Tenth.

The small percentage of rejected ballots in the South St. Louis (German) wards surprised both parties. Chairman McDavid, democrat, of the joint committee, predicted Painter's election. Twenty-five more votes for the socialist candidate was found to have been counted for the democratic or republican candidate.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR INDIGESTION

If you have indigestion, your food ferments in the stomach and bowels. It does more; it decays, and the nutritious matter which should go to make new blood decays with it, and this leads to an impoverished condition of the blood, to nervousness, biliousness, constipation, sick headache, bad breath which disgusts your friends, and other disagreeable and unpleasant conditions.

And all this trouble is caused by the food that doesn't digest, but ferments and oftentimes rots in the stomach.

And fermentation is caused by the stomach not being strong enough and energetic enough to thoroughly mix the food with the digestive juices.

MI-ONA is responsible for tens of thousands of cures. In fact, it is such a positive cure for indigestion and all stomach troubles that it is guaranteed by W. E. Bard Drug Co. to cure or money back. The price of a large box of Mi-ONA tablets is 50 cents, and they are sure to promptly relieve the worst case of indigestion or gastritis. Try them.

WOOD'S OPERA HOUSE.

"For Love and Honor," the bill presented by the Stanley Stock Co. at Wood's opera house last night, held the large audience in close attention from the opening of the play to the close of the last act. The scenery was fine, the costumes elegant and the presentation all that could be desired, and the specialties presented are far above those usually found with a repertoire company. Tonight an entirely different kind of play is promised, entitled, "Falsely Accused," with a change of specialties, and the company certainly merits a large attendance. Ladies free tonight on usual conditions. Matinee Saturday.

OXYGEN USED TO CUT STEEL.

Little or No Finishing Required After the Operation.

A stream of oxygen is the knife that cuts metals. The operation is performed by means of a blowpipe with two nozzles, of which the first delivers an ignited jet of mixed oxygen and hydrogen, and the second is a stream of pure oxygen. The pressure is regulated by a gauge attached to the oxygen tank. The oxygen strikes the metal and the stream of oxygen strike the metal, which, after being heated by the flame, is rapidly cut, or rather burned through by the oxygen, the temperature being raised to 1,300 or 1,400 degrees Fahrenheit by the combustion of the metal. The cut is as smooth as a sheared cut and requires little or no finishing. Armor plates can be cut in one-twentieth the time required for mechanical cutting; and the sharply localized heating probably causes less strain than punching and shearing develop. If oxygen costs two cents and hydrogen two-thirds of a cent per cubic foot, the cost of cutting an iron plate four-fifths of an inch thick is about seven cents per running foot, or about half the cost of mechanical cutting. Special machines are constructed for cutting various objects. Finally there is a universal machine, which can be arranged to make curved and polygonal cuts of any pattern in addition to the simpler cuts effected by the other machines. A special form of this universal machine is exceedingly useful in taking apart machinery and steel buildings. It operates by cutting off the heads of the rivets, which are then easily driven out.

A DEFICIT OF $125,000

Railway Company Asks to Charge Original Ordinance Fare.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19.—Attorneys representing creditors of the Cleveland Railway Co. and the Municipal Traction Company yesterday asked Judge Taylor of the United States circuit court to issue an order directing the receiver of the railway properties to at once begin charging the rate of fare fixed by the original ordinance under which the lines are operated.

The motion in effect is that the rate of 5 cents cash fare or eleven tickets for 50 cents shall be charged on the old Cleveland electric lines and 3 cents on the Municipal Traction Company lines instead of the flat 3-cent rate of fare now charged.

It is alleged that since the receiver took charge a deficit of $125,000 has been created under 3-cent fare because of the efforts of the receiver to furnish adequate service to the public. Judge Taylor has taken the matter under advisement.

ATTRACTS MEN OF WEALTH.

Multi-Millionaires. Constantly Making Homes at Washington.

Fifteen Washington families were recently estimated to represent $1,000,000,000 of wealth. Perhaps the estimate was high, but it is certain that during a social season a diligent diner-out can meet in Washington more of the exponents of great accumulations than anywhere else in the world. In the first place, there is more democracy in Washington, and in the second place there is probably nowhere that more of this kind of "bonanza society" shows itself. Only recently, for instance, a man went to Washington, bought a beautiful building site in the northwestern section of the city and proceeded to erect a palatial residence without taking advice or counsel of anybody. It presently became known that this man was none other than Henry C. Perkins, the South African multi-millionaire, argonaut of California and the Rand.

Mr. Perkins is rated as one of the wealthiest men of the world. He is associated with the house of Rothschild and has great mining interests in Africa and the United States.—New York Herald.

What Makes a Good Laundry?

Not size alone—certainly not mere boasting without practical results.

This is what we are doing—striving to please customers by giving them the benefit of our skill, our modern machinery and up-to-date methods of laundering clothing and delivering it clean, fresh and spotless.

TO KNOW

How the eyesight should be tested is one thing; to have the necessary expertise to do it right is something entirely different. Many men fitting eyes today for glasses, some of them supposedly competent, are not expert in their work because they lack practice. When you want a pair of glasses you should not go to one that makes a side line of the business and a pair of glasses occasionally, or picks them out of a basket and lets you fit yourself. We have made a life study of this business and will fit you correctly.

CAN CHURCH BE BANKRUPT?

Unusual Proceedings Grow Out of the Kieran Deals.

Pittsburg, Jan. 19.—Petitions were filed in the United States district court yesterday asking that the Church of the Holy Name of Mary at Donora, Pa., be adjudged bankrupt. The action is said to be unprecedented in bankruptcy proceedings and is an outgrowth of the financial dealings of P. J. Kieran with Catholic church members and institutions. The petitioners who represent claims of $9,000 base their hope of recovery on the claim that a church is not a corporation and can be thrown into involuntary bankruptcy.

Kieran Gives Himself Up. Pittsburg, Jan. 19.—P. J. Kieran, whose financial transactions have involved many Catholic churches and societies over the country, has given himself up to the authorities here, and gave bond in two cases.

Your Shirt orders solicited and appreciated. Mrs. Weiderhold, 416 Ohio.

Making Glass.

Glass is made iridescent by being exposed, in a red hot condition, to the fumes of salts of tin, barium and strontium. Red is produced by the strontia, blue by the baryta and bluish white by the tin. In ancient glass, which is more opaque, iridescence is due to partial decay.

RICH ST. JOSEPH MAN DIES

Dr. Logan Falls on Sidewalk and His Skull Is Fractured.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 19.—Slipping on the sidewalk in front of the Logan building last night, Dr. John S. Logan, 72 years old, fell heavily, striking his head on the steps, and died ten minutes later from what physicians believe to have been a fracture of the skull.

Dr. Logan was one of the oldest residents of St. Joseph and one of the richest. He owned much property, including the business block, at the entrance to which he died, and was extensively interested in Texas lands and a number of valuable mines.

He was related to the Tootle and Fairleigh families of St. Joseph, and had been prominent in all movements for the progress of the city.

Set Aside for the President.

The presidential apartments in the new Washington station occupy the eastern end of this marble masterpiece, extending the full width of the building. At the southeast corner of the building is the main entrance to the suite—an arched carriage porch of simple but imposing architecture. The character of the institution is indicated only by sculpture over the doorway representing the seal of the United States, surrounded by flags.

If preferred entrance or egress may be had on the east front where several doors open from the apartments to a corridor or portico spacious enough to permit half a dozen carriages to be drawn up before it.

The main entrance opens upon a vestibule, the side communicates with the main reception room, from which latter also open most of the doors on the east front. This reception room is an impressive, high-ceilinged apartment, almost as large as the historic east room at the White House, and very suggestive of that salon in its general dimensions. There is a mosaic floor and the fresco ornamentation and other decorations, which are very elaborate, present blue and gold as the predominating tints.

"Queer, isn't it," said the observant woman, "that though American men are modest individuals, they have been content all these years to be shaven and shorn and massaged in full view of any one who happens to be passing. I mean that all the barber shops are on the street level or below it, and with a wealth of uncurtained glass front that allows a man's toilet to be regarded as a matter of public interest. You might think this exposure was tolerated by the customer only because it insures a good, strong light for the delicate operation of shaving; but not so, for even at night when the electric lights are glaring down the shades remain up, and pedestrians may gaze upon unlovely lathered faces in any barber shop they pass. Going over a comparatively small area last week I counted 200 tonsorial parlors and not one of them attempted even the gauziest screening between its customers and the public gaze. Personally I don't consider that a man is at his handsomest under the barber's hands, do you?"—New York Press.

ROTHSCHILD'S ONE LARGE CLAN

Remarkable Number of Unions Between Cousins Belonging to Family.

The founder of the Rothschild family, Mayer Amschel of the Red Shield, dying in 1812, exhorted his five sons, engaged as loanmongers under him in Frankfurt, Vienna, London, Paris and Naples, not only to remain faithful to the law of Moses and stand ever united, but to undertake nothing of importance without first consulting their mother.

Nathan, founder of the London branch, also was so convinced of the business capacities of his wife, a Cohen, that he not only left the huge residue of his fortune at her disposal, but, says the Ladies' Realm, added instructions that his sons were to engage in no undertaking of moment without her consent.

How far the instruction was observed one is not in a position to say, but it is certain the Rothschilds have done their best to live in family unity, for from the Gentile point of view the number that have married cousins is appalling. Of the five children of the great Nathan each married a cousin.

And, coming to contemporaries, Lord Rothschild is the son of cousins and the husband of a cousin. Returning to Nathan, the Sidonia of "Cousins," though his offspring married cousins, a reaction followed in the next generation, for three of his granddaughters, two of whom have been already named, married not only out of the family, but out of the faith.

THE BETRAYAL OF A GIRL

IN FACT THERE WERE TWO OF THE CASES

Burden of Secret Sends One to Grave—Police Seeking Pastor, Who It Is Now Said Has a Wife in Wales.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 19.—Detectives from Canada, the United States and Scotland yard are said to be searching for Rev. Evan T. Evans, who, up to a short time ago, was the honored rector of St. John's Episcopal church at Sarnia. Handsome, eloquent and fascinating, Rev. Dr. Evans came to Sarnia, presumably from a city in Eastern Canada, some eighteen months ago. Posing as a bachelor, he at once became extremely popular with the ladies of his congregation. To one of them, Miss Nellie St. Clair-Davis, whose parents are both wealthy and prominent, his attentions are said to have been most marked.

On Sept. 26, last, Miss Evans quietly left home, and Dr. Evans did likewise twenty-four hours later. The two met in a town in Niagara county, New York state. It is said, and married, afterward proceeding to Cleveland, where the clergyman, so the story goes, succeeded in inducing his bride to turn over to him several thousand dollars in cash which she had. Then, it is alleged, he sent the girl bride back to her home in Sarnia, after exacting a promise that she keep the wedding a secret until he could secure another parish.

This was the last any one in Sarnia saw or heard of him. No word came from him and under the stress of her secret and failure to receive the promised letters, young Miss Davis sickened and died.

This was only a few weeks ago. With the lowering into the grave of the body Sarnia generally honed that the scandal would be hushed for all time, but it is again revived by the knowledge that arrangements have been made at St. Margaret's hospital, a private institution, for the reception of the 16-year-old daughter of one of the leaders of the church, who is said to charge her downfall to the missing clergyman. This second victim of Evans was a member of the choir until a few weeks ago, when others becoming aware of her condition, insisted upon her withdrawal.

The latest developments have decided the church authorities to take action in the case, and the matter has been turned over to the police with a full description of Dr. Evans. The authorities of Niagara county, New York, where Miss Davis' alleged marriage occurred, are also to be urged to act.

Dr. Evans has a wife and four children in Landpeter, Wales, but this fact only became known after some of his effects left behind at Sarnia had disclosed letters from across the sea.

TWO OTHER "LOBBYISTS"

Registered at the State Capital This Forenoon.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Two more legislative lobbyists registered today. They are John H. Holmes and Ben W. Dalzell, of St. Louis. They represent the Knights of Pythias lodge, and are to work for an amendment to other fraternal beneficiary laws to allow fraternal to issue certificates of insurance with net value and legal issue.

Recently the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias mandamus Superintendent of Insurance Vandiver, to compel him to issue the society a license to do business as a fraternal, with a residue feature, and to comply with non-forfeitable policy statements relating to regular life companies.

The supreme court sustained the superintendent of insurance and refused the mandamus writ, on the ground that fraternal should not be allowed to do any part of regular life business without paying the tax levied upon such companies, and making the deposits required of life companies.

It seems now that the society is to maintain a lobby here to try to get an amendment made to the fraternal society statute that will enable it to do that which the present law does not allow.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

GOULD LINE PASSENGERS ARE TO GET 10 DAYS' LAYOVER IN ST. LOUIS.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The Wabash and the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain System yesterday notified the St. Louis association of General Passenger agents, at a special meeting, that they will immediately grant a ten-day stopover at St. Louis to passengers traveling through the St. Louis gateway to and from any direction, says today's St. Louis Republic.

This concession, which St. Louis business men have long desired and contended for, was granted by the Gould lines at the earnest request of the Business Men's League. Although none of the other railroads operating in St. Louis seemed disposed, at yesterday's meeting, to adopt the same policy as the Wabash and the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain System, it is expected that many of them if not all will do so.

Recipe for Bread.

Scald three cupsful of sweet milk. Put in two tablespoonfuls of butter, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of salt. When sufficiently cool add one yeast cake dissolved in a half cupful of warm water. Stir in flour until you have enough so the spoon will almost stand in the dough. Set it to rise in a warm place for three hours. When risen stir it down, turn on your board and knead just enough to shape the loaves. Let rise to double size and bake. If yeast is fresh five hours is all the time required, no kneading and not ten minutes' actual work.

Irish Moss Blanc Mange.

One-third cupful Irish moss, one quart milk, one-fourth level teaspoonful salt, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls vanilla.

Soak the moss in cold water for 20 minutes, then look it over and discard the discolored pieces. Add it to the milk and cook in double boiler for 30 minutes. Add the salt and vanilla and strain into a mold wet with cold water. Chill thoroughly, turn on to a glass dish and surround with sliced banana. Serve with sweetened cream.

Browned Mashed Sweet Potatoes.

Press three good-sized hot-boiled sweet potatoes through a ricer and beat into them salt and pepper to season and a heaping tablespoon of butter. Add enough milk to make quite moist and put into a baking dish. Dot with bits of butter and bake until browned on top. Serve in the same dish.

TELEPHONE 153.

408 OHIO ST., 2ND FLOOR.

THE 'DINGBAT' NOW TO GO

OWNERS OF GAS PLANT AGREED TO INSTALL PHOTOMETER WITHOUT DELAY.

THERE WERE 166 FIRE ALARMS LAST YEAR

The Total Loss Was $36,683, With $186,490 Insurance—The City Water Company Is Anxious for a Settlement.

Lo! Sedalia is to have a photometer—a real photometer. No longer will the famous "dingbat" adorn the walls of City Clerk Baker's office, for the gas company has kindly consented to install a real photometer in the office to supplement the "infernal machine" which so long has been a cause of disgust to Sedalians in general.

At Monday night's meeting of the city council Mayor Babcock reported a conference had been had with representatives of Edward M. Deane & Co., owners of the gas plant, and the corporation had consented to install a photometer at once. That's pleasant news.

With C. C. Kelly occupying the city counselor's chair in the absence of W. W. Blain, and with the city's legal talent well represented in the chamber, Mayor J. L. Babcock rapped for order at 8:20 o'clock last night at the bi-monthly meeting of the "city fathers."

Messrs. Andier, Hatton and Delarquette failed to respond at roll call, the latter coming in later.

The last meeting's minute report, as read by Clerk Baker, was filed, on motion of Alderman Johns.

Immediate relief was reported forthcoming from Mitch Finnegan's smoke nuisance, accruing from Finnegan's laundry, on East Third street.

The lighting committee, through "Bob" Johns, asked for an extension of time to consider granting a franchise to the Economy Steam Heating company for the erection of a lighting plant in Sedalia. The request was granted.

Under the heading, "monthly reports of officers," Henry Willis, fire chief, submitted his annual report. A perusal of the report shows that the department answered 166 alarms during the year just elapsed. The total damage from fires for 1938, according to the report, was $33,683, on which $186,490 insurance was carried.

As previously told, Mayor Babcock announced the immediate installation of a photometer by the gas company in Clerk Baker's office.

A very unique communication from Henry Bauer, of Kansas City, was read by Clerk Baker, and elicited no little merriment for the councilmen and spectators as well. Bauer recently filed a $200 claim against the city for damages as a result of falling on one of the public streets. At the last meeting of the council the claim was rejected and the petitioner was ignored.

The letter read last night was in response to the council's action. Bauer sarcastically flattered the city's administrators in a way peculiarly his own. Many comical quotations were noted in his missive, among them being that the mayor's brother had told Bauer that the place where he fell was a bad one. "He had to travel some if my brother told him that," Mayor Babcock commented as the council broke out in laughter and the communication "hit the table."

By a full vote, the ordinance defining the benefit district for the Southeast Sedalia sewer district was adopted.

All properly audited bills were allowed and warrants ordered drawn in payment of same.

On motion of Mr. Johns, the recommendation of the supply and finance committee to purchase an adding machine for the use of City Clerk Baker was accepted.

Failure to repair torn-up paved streets was the cause of no little discussion. Mayor Babcock took the initiative and Messrs. Olmsted, Igenfritz and others participated. The discussion concluded by referring the matter to the mayor and city attorney to take steps providing for an immediate and satisfactory repair of all streets torn up by the public utilities.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 56.

The county is the unit of taxation, representation, voting, etc., but when it comes to the saloon and liquor traffic then it is different, and the majority does not amount to anything. For instance, Bates county in this state voted the saloon out by a majority of 1,600, including Butler, the county seat. Rich Hill in the same county, with over 2,500 voted in favor of the saloon by 141 majority, and so the saloons remained in the county, and yet there is a majority of 1,456 AGAINST the saloon in the county. A dry man of Sedalia recently went to St. Louis and a party boarded the train at Jefferson City and one of them was a brewer. He had come up to attend the inauguration, and on the way back the subject came up about temperance legislation and the brewer said: "We don't give a d— about prohibition coming up, we can meet that in the legislature, but it is that d— county unit bill that we have to fight." It does seem strange that the will of the people must be beaten down by some pig-faced brewer, and surely it will not be continued so very long.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE

MEMORY OF SOUTHERNER BEING HONORED THROUGHOUT
DIXIE TODAY.

HE WAS GRADUATED WITHOUT A DEMERIT

Born in Westmoreland County, Va.,
Jan. 19, 1807, and Died at Lexington
in That State on October 12, 1870.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 19.—Today is the anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee, and the memory of the great southern leader is being honored throughout Dixie, as well as by impressive memorial exercises in Washington, New York and other cities. He was born in Virginia Jan. 19, 1807, and died there Oct. 12, 1870.

This year's anniversary is rendered especially notable by the publication of a new biography and appreciation of Lee, entitled "Robert E. Lee the Southerner," from the pen of Thomas Nelson Page.

Lee, as Mr. Page is not slow to point out, was a man of his state, a state which, for reasons too many and too numerous to be rehearsed, sets a plain mark upon her sons, a mark as clearly distinguishable as the mark of Massachusetts upon the Adamses.

The son of Light Horse Harry, the kinsman of Richard Henry and Francis Lightfoot Lee, reared in a region fragrant with memories of the great American who gave his life for his country and lives forever in the hearts of his countrymen, very early made Washington his ideal, beginning at home with a fine devotion to his widowed mother, her "outdoor agent and confidential messenger."

At West Point he won the adjutancy of the cadet corps and was graduated without a demerit. His likeness to Washington was perceived even at the academy, but both there and in later life he endeared himself to his fellows by a gift of happy speech and felicitous expression, denied except at rare moments, to the great chieftain. He married a woman whose sense of honor was as delicate as his own, and the realization of his ideal was absolutely unhindered.

He defended Virginia against servile insurrection, he protected St. Louis in spite of her froward opposition against the Mississippi, and his work yet stands as witness to what West Point taught him; his achievements in the Mexican war, according to his comrades and his commander, made him "the greatest living soldier in America," the "greatest soldier now living in the world," said Scott, forgetting himself and Wellington.

Constantly and consistently he was and Virginia he remained while the and Virginian he remained while the approach of the civil war brought to him the president's offer of the chief command of the army. Duty, as he saw it, commanded him to follow his state, and "duty," he had long before written to his son, was "the sublimest word in the language." So he resigned his commission, hoping that peace might come, but determined not to fight against Virginia.

These earlier passages are those by which his whole life should be judged, for in them he guided circumstances; later, he was driven from them as much as such a man can be driven. His character exhibited itself in deeds of clemency; in refusal to employ his position for the benefit of any member of his family, in Roman sternness towards his sons, who responded in a spirit as fine as his own.

In the chapter recording these matters Mr. Page includes a comparison of the Pennsylvania raid and Sherman's march to the sea, and hardly does justice to Sherman, whose approval of the cruelty practiced on that march is well known to be based on the theory, "I must be cruel only to be kind."

National Board of Trade.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Matters of interest affecting the business interests of the country were considered at the opening session today of the National Board of Trade. Several hundred delegates are in attendance, representing commercial clubs and business men's organizations throughout the country.

The session will be concluded tomorrow. Frank D. La Lance, of Philadelphia, is president of the body.

PENROSE MADE SENATOR

FOR THE THIRD TIME BY LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA TODAY.

KNOWN AS ONE OF THE REACTIONARIES

But This Makes No Difference in the Keystone State, Where the Only Qualification is a Big Barrel.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—Boise Penrose was elected United States senator for the third time by the Pennsylvania legislature today. The house and senate adjourned separately today and will meet in joint session tomorrow to canvass the vote.

Senator Penrose is popularly classed as a reactionary of the United States senate, and his re-election is a blow to the reform element of the republican party. He is now the head of the famous Quay machine, which has so long dominated Pennsylvania politics, and is denounced by his enemies as a political half-brother of Platt and Denew. Senator Penrose was accused by President Roosevelt of being the revealer of the $5,000,000 conspiracy to thwart him and his policies.

Today's balloting was a mere formality, as Penrose's re-election had been decided by a caucus in which he received 177 of the 212 republican votes in the legislature. State Treasurer John Sheatz, of Philadelphia, the choice of the anti-organization republicans, received only twenty-three votes. The democratic members voted for Senator George Dimling, of Clearfield. It is now considered certain that George T. Oliver, the Pittsburgh newspaper publisher, will be named by the legislature to fill out the unexpired term of United States Senator Philander C. Knox, who will resign March 4 to become secretary of state in Taft's cabinet.

It is certain that much legislation will be introduced at this session of the legislature. The building of the state highway and a large appropriation for fighting tuberculosis and establishing sanitariums for consumptives are among the salient recommendations of Governor Stuart. All of the big bosses of Philadelphia, headed by Israel W. Durham, are in the senate and are taking an active interest in the legislative grind.

Canners in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Canners, brokers and supply men from eight states are in attendance today at the annual convention of the Missouri Valley Canners' association. The pure food law, as it affects canners of fruits and vegetables, and other important matters pertaining to the industry are on the program for discussion.

Lumbermen Discuss Tariff.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19.—Problems connected with tariff revision and the conservation of the rapidly depleting forests of the country are the session of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Association of the United States, opened today at the Seebach hotel. Hundreds of men interested in the hardwood industry, "from the stump to the consumer," are participating in the meeting and the speakers include leading lumbermen and experts in the United States government service.

LAURENS A. BABB DICTATES FOR THE UNIVERSITY MISSOURIAN

LIVES IN A TRULY "WONDERFUL" LAND

He Plays Football There at Night, When Nobody Else Can Play—Did Not Want a Present Christmas Time.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 19.—Laurens Ashley Babb, the 6-year-old son of J. G. Babb, says that he is going to be a writer when he is grown. He was 6 years old December 1, last. Mr. Babb is secretary of the university.

Laurens spends part of his time writing or dictating "stories" for the University Missourian. As he is wholly unhampered by facts, the stories are ever so much nicer than any the University Missourian publishes, but a proper regard for the paper's reputation for veracity in the community forbids printing them. It so happens, however, that the youthful reporter loftily ignores the caprices of mere editors, and doesn't care whether his stories get into type or not. He finds his pleasure in writing them.

Laurens' imagination has created for him what he calls the "wonderful world." He told a reporter for the University Missourian that it was difficult for him to write upon any other subject.

At first Laurens declined to talk for publication about the "wonderful world," saying it was a secret, but after some persuasion he consented to tell a few things about it. He said that people, lions and elephants live in it, and that they play football, basketball, hockey, tennis and croquet. He says they play football just as they do in this world, but that they play basketball differently. Laurens says one advantage of the "wonderful world" is that football can be played at night there.

Laurens does not devote all his time to story writing. He is also an athlete. He spends a great deal of his time playing football. He has a team and calls them the "Sweeties." Any player who does not wear a sweater is called a "plain player." He would not even allow his father to play on his team, because he did not have a sweater to wear.

Laurens told his parents that he did not want any present his last birthday because it would soon be Christmas. He said Santa Claus would bring him a present and it would be much "cheaper."

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA

Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair—Many Treatments were Futile—Baby had Milk-Crust.

BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair, which was very heavy. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This left the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff, and after the hair was dry, I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment, this time sparingly, into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My troubles with dandruff were over, although for a long time afterward I used the Cuticura Ointment as at first, after shampooing, which kept the scalp and roots of the hair moist. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies a blessing to mankind. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful cures for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, will remove, when necessary, by a mild dose of Cuticura (liquid or pills) is often sufficient to afford immediate relief of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczema, irritations and inflammation, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Sedalia Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Sedalia people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. T. B. Young, 714 East Fourth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I think very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two or three years I suffered from a dull aching and a lameness in my back, which extended at times into my head. I was also subject to dizzy spells and there was a blurring of my eyesight. Doan's Kidney Pills greatly relieved me and I consider them the best remedy I ever used."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A BELLE OF WASHINGTON

BEFORE SHE MARRIED IS NOW PLAINTIFF IN A DIVORCE SUIT

THE CASE PROMISES MANY SENSATIONS

Wife Names Mrs. Atherton, Famous English Beauty, as Co-Respondent, and Husband Names Lord Northland.

Edinburgh, Jan. 19.—High society of Edinburgh and London is confidently expecting to be scandalized by the revelations in the divorce suit of Stirling vs. Stirling, which was called for hearing today.

Mrs. Stirling, who was a belle of Washington, D. C., before she married Captain Stirling, has named Mrs. Atherton, the famous English beauty, as co-respondent in the action against her husband. Captain Stirling has brought a counter suit against his wife, in which Lord Northland is named as co-respondent.

The proceedings today were of a preliminary character, but some highly-splendid sensations are expected before the hearing is finished.

There is apparently no chance of settlement out of court, because Mrs. Stirling declares that she intends to ventilate her woes thoroughly and, if possible shed full light upon the beautiful Mrs. Atherton's vivacious career prior to meeting Captain Stirling.

Mrs. Stirling is backed up by her mother, the very determined Washingtonian, who did not hesitate to visit Mrs. Atherton, the famous English beauty, at her London residence and tell her what she thought of her.

It is the gossip of Edinburgh that Captain Stirling, formerly of the Scots guards, has told his friends that in the event he is divorced he will marry Mrs. Atherton.

Whether Lord Northland, who is also a guardman, and who is the son and heir of the Earl of Ranfurly, and who is named as co-respondent by Captain Stirling in his counter suit, will marry Mrs. Stirling after she gets a divorce remains to be seen.

It is not improbable that the Scotch court may condemn Mrs. Atherton to pay Mrs. Stirling heavy damages, if the court's decision upholds Mrs. Stirling, as both the Scottish and the English courts often condemn co-respondents to pay heavy damages for breaking up homes. A London court several years ago condemned a co-respondent to pay an injured husband $25,000. There is a popular impres-

CARMACK MURDER CASE

Set for Tomorrow, but Further Continuance Probable.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 19.—Although the trial is set for tomorrow, it is likely that a further continuance will be secured in the case of D. B. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John D. Sharpe, who are charged with the murder of former United States Senator Carmack.

Attorneys for the defense have persistently opposed a speedy trial, evidently believing that their clients will fare better after public excitement has had time to die out. It is thought that self-defense will be the plea of the defendants.

MAN SCARED TO DEATH

Was Smoking in Bed in a Hotel When Fire Was Discovered.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 19.—His bed on fire, John D. Weld, a wealthy fertilizer dealer of Savannah, Ga., awoke early in the Hotel Lenox here, and then died of heart disease.

Weld was found by a bellboy. He was unconscious in the corridor of the seventh floor and his room was ablaze.

The manager of the hotel and Weld's relatives say the fire was started by the aged man smoking in bed.

Physicians say the discovery of the flames so frightened Weld that he practically fell dead.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is known as Nature's Cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is prepared entirely from the blood purifying and healing extracts of roots, herbs and barks taken directly from the natural forests of the land. It does not contain the least particle of strong mineral ingredients, and is so prepared as to aid in the rebuilding of every portion of the system, while driving Contagious Blood Poison from the blood. No unpleasant effects ever follow the use of S. S. S., such as stomach troubles, dyspepsia, mercurial rheumatism, etc., as is so often the case where other medicines are used. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and gently but surely drives out every trace of the disease, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and by its fine vegetable tonic effects, assists the system to rapidly overcome the ravages of the disease, and regain its natural healthful condition. S. S. S. does not cover up or hide the symptoms for awhile, to break out later, but so thoroughly does it remove the cause that no signs of the trouble ever return. S. S. S., Nature's cure, is the surest and safest remedy for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book with valuable suggestions and information, and any medical advice free to all who write.

CROWN RICHEST IMAGE

VIRGIN DE LA SOLEDAD, OAXA-
CA'S MILLION DOLLAR
PATRON SAINT.

THOUSANDS WITNESSED THE CEREMONIES

Robe of the Virgin Is Covered With Pearls, Diamonds and Other Precious Stones—Value of Nearly $1,000,000.

Oaxaca, Mexico, Jan. 19.—The Virgin de la Soledad, Oaxaca's million-dollar patron saint, was crowned here in the presence of what was probably the most notable assemblage of digni-taries of the Roman Catholic church
ever assembled in Mexico.

Pope Pius was represented by Monsignor Jose Ridolfi, apostolic delegate to Mexico, who performed the act of coronation, assisted by Archbishop Gillow, of Oaxaca.

Several bishops and archbishops,
hundreds of priests and thousands of
the faithful witnessed the ceremony,
which took place at the Seledad
church, the shrine of the virgin, which was commenced in 1683 and cost nearly a half million dollars.

The robe of the virgin is covered with pearls, diamonds and other precious gems, contributed by devotees
during the last two and a quarter centuries and has a value of nearly a million dollars.

The image of the Virgin of Soledad
is alleged to have been of miraculous origin, and was discovered by a native mule driver about the middle of the sixteenth century.

The shrine is annually visited by thousands of the faithful and many miraculous cures are reported to have resulted through the intercession of the patron saint.

The image is beyond all doubt the most valuable in its material accessories in America, and one of the richest in the world.

HAMID TO HONOR TARS

TWO AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS
AT SALONICA, EURO-

THE MISSOURI AND OHIO ARRIVED TODAY

Sultan and Officers of the Turkish
Navy Have Arranged a Great Reception for Four Vessels at Smyrna.

Constantinople, Jan. 19.—According to reports received here, the American battleships Missouri and Ohio arrived today at Salonica, European Turkey, where they will remain two days. From Salonica they will proceed to Smyrna, arriving there on Friday, where they will be joined by the Louisiana and Virginia. The sultan and officers of the Turkish
navy have arranged a great reception
for the officers of the four vessels
while at Smyrna.

Abdul Hamid will take advantage of the visit of the Yankee ships to show his cordial friendship for America. In addition to sending down several hundred Turkish naval officers to show the visitors about, he means also to send his son, who will bear a message to the American rear admiral inviting him as well as his officers to Constantinople.

It is said that the sultan declares
he will be disappointed if the invitation is not accepted. His initiative has caused much interest, as this is the first visit of any foreign fleet
since the revolution and contrasts significantly with the last visit of an American fleet, which was for the purpose of collecting money.

POE; A MAN OF LETTERS

EDGAR ALLAN POE, THE GREATEST THAT AMERICA HAS PRODUCED.

WAS THE SON OF AN ACTOR AND ACTRESS

Boston Claims to Be His Birthplace. But All Available Evidence Points to Baltimore as the Place of Birth.

New York, Jan. 19.—Today is the centennial anniversary of the birth of Edgar Allan Poe, perhaps the greatest poet and man of letters that America has produced, and the event is being celebrated in New York, Baltimore, Boston, Providence, Richmond and many other cities.

Poe was born in Baltimore on January 19, 1809, and was the son of an actor and actress. Boston also claims to be the birthplace of the poet, but all available evidence points to the authenticity of the claims of the Monumental City.

He was left an orphan in early youth and adopted by a rich Virginian, John Allan, of Richmond. After a short school life in that city he was taken to England, and for five years was at the Manor House school at Stoke Newington, near London, an experience Poe described in his story entitled "William Wilson." Judging by that description these school days in a foreign country, in a large, rambling, mysterious Elizabethan mansion, while he remembered them with pleasure, yet must have done much to fill his mind with a sense of strangeness and mystery, a consciousness of the unknown that never left him. Returning to America he entered in 1826 the University of Virginia, where his career is said to have been marred by a love of gambling and some fondness for liquor, though it is very probable that all that has been greatly exaggerated by the malevolence of Griswold, his biographer, whose animosity against Poe gave rise to what has been called "the most extraordinary instance on record of systematic misrepresentation on the part of a biographer." Yet even Griswold says that Poe stood in the first rank for scholarship and would have graduated with the highest honors if he had remained at the university. He was also noted for hardihood, strength and activity, was an expert fencer, a good draughtsman, ready and eloquent as a speaker and debater.

Poe left the university, and, according to Griswold, went abroad, intending to join the Greeks, as Byron had done, to aid them in their struggle against Turkey. According to others he went to Boston and attempted to gain a footing by publishing his first volume of poems, "Tamerlane," a volume now one of the most prized rarities of book collectors. Failing in his attempt to support himself by his pen, Poe enlisted, under the name of E. A. Perry, in the United States army, served with distinction for nearly two years, becoming sergeant-major in 1829. At this time Poe is described as five feet eight inches in height, with gray eyes, brown hair and fair complexion. In 1829 Poe offered a substitute, was honorably discharged, and by the efforts of Mr. Allan, Chief Justice Marshall and General Scott, was admitted to West Point. An attempt to resume his kindly relations with Mr. Allan resulted in complete failure, for reasons differently stated by Poe and by his patron. The result was to throw Poe upon his own resources, and he settled in Baltimore, devoting himself to literature, and, naturally enough, undergoing great hardships.

In Griswold's memoir we read of Poe's having gained two prizes offered by a Baltimore newspaper and this success led to his engagement as assistant editor of the Southern Literary Messenger. Poe continued, however, to reside in Baltimore for a time, though the magazine was published in Richmond. In September, 1835, he removed to Richmond, and with an income of but $500 he married his cousin, Virginia Clemm, an amiable and lovely girl. Thenceforward he was connected with a number of magazines of the day, being successively associate editor of the Gentleman's Magazine (Philadelphia), editor of Graham's Magazine in 1841, and in 1844 an assistant on the staff of Willis's Mirror. In 1845 the publication of "The Raven" brought him fame. He became a literary lion and for a time was much courted. This was the summit of his success. The loss of his wife, two years afterward seemed to have broken his spirit, and he died in 1849 at a hospital in Baltimore.

Owing to the prejudice created by Poe's biographer Americans have never done Poe justice. In Europe he ranks higher than in his own land. The amount and quality of work he did was incomparable with a greatly erratic life. In money matters he seems to have been cheated by all with whom he came in contact. Griswold's statement that he was expelled from the University of Virginia has never been proved, and as to his statement that Poe could not retain literary employment on account of his intemperate habits, it is declared that there is not the slightest foundation for "this coarse slander." There is unanimous testimony that while connected with magazines he was a model of punctuality and thoroughness. His loving care of his wife during eight long years is almost alone a certificate of his good character, and the affection of the wife's mother for Poe was touching in its devotion.

As a critic Poe was almost infallible. He was almost the first to rightly appraise Nathaniel Hawthorne, declaring him king of the short story. His valuations of American poets in "The Literati" have, in the main, been confirmed by the best sense of later years.

As a writer he essayed all forms successively with mastery. His short stories virtually exhausted the possibilities of that form of writing, each standing as a masterpiece of its kind. Moore says, "One sees authors all over the world painfully following in his tracks, each exploring a single region which Poe discovered and dismissed in a few pages." In his so-called "prose poem" "Eureka" Poe seems to have foreseen in general the whole course of modern science. Were it not too scientific for the description, it might be called "An Epic of Evolution." It is a theory of the universe that might have been expanded into a whole Spencerian system of philosophy.

It is hardly rash to prophesy that Poe may one day be declared the most creative intellect that America has produced. Even now his only rivals are Emerson, Whitman and Thoreau.

Bilious People Try It Free

Do not ignore the "little disorders" of the system. The liver, for example, is a particularly needful little organ, but must be active to be of any use. When it is active it creates gastric juices that help to make digestion perfect, and then you are well. When it is not active it becomes what is known as "torpid," and promptly produces biliousness.

There is no better cure for biliousness or any of the symptoms of liver trouble than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful laxative tonic of which so much praise is heard. It is pleasant to take (unlike pills and powders and such things) and acts very gently, moving the bowels without griping, toning the stomach and arousing the liver to activity, thus scientifically curing such conditions as biliousness, torpid liver, foul breath, salivary pimples, complexion, sick headache, constipation, loss of appetite, indigestion, nervousness, etc., all of which are due to a slow liver.

Mack Clark, of Burlington, Ky., suffered for five years from biliousness and cured himself with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Noah B. Hatfield, of Zalma, Mo., found it the best medicine in the world for his biliousness.

You can buy a 50-cent or $1 bottle of our druggist, for they all sell it. You can buy it with the understanding that if it fails to cure you the money will be refunded. This remedy is guaranteed. However, if you would rather try it without expense before buying, send your name to the doctor and a free sample bottle will be sent to your home. Use it and if you find the remedy helps you, buy a regular bottle of your druggist. We will rest on the verdict of what this sample does.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

BOXING "LID" IS LIFTED

PERMISSION OBTAINED FROM MAYOR BUSSE, OF CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

FOR BENEFIT OF THE HOSPITAL CORPS

Stanley Ketchel, Middleweight Champion, and "Cyclone" Thompson Will Be Matched Against Two Other Fighters.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Mayor Busse has lifted the lid on boxing a wee bit in favor of the hospital corps of the Seventh regiment of the Illinois National Guard, which will give an athletic entertainment tomorrow in the armory at Wentworth avenue and Thirty-fourth street. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to regimental uses.

Permission to include boxing bouts in the program was obtained from the mayor by Dr. Thomas J. Sinclair, surgeon general of the regiment, who said that no prize fighting would be allowed and that women would be invited to attend the affair.

There will be other varieties of athletics on the program. Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion, and "Cyclone" Thompson will be matched against two other fighters.

The mayor said he was satisfied that no prizefighting was intended, but declared that he was not taking the lid off the sport.

GOOD-BY FIELDER JONES

Comiskey Thinks White Sox Manager Is Through.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—"It was my idea that they grew nothing but big trees out in Oregon, but I see that they produce some fine conversation there, as well."

This was the remark made by President Charles Comiskey, of the White Sox team, as he read the remarks credited to Fielder Jones, now in Portland. Jones is said to have remarked that he would not return to the South Side team as manager unless he received a salary of $30,000. "Jones may come back, but I wish to break the news to him a little gently about that salary talk," the "old Roman" continued, with a smile. "Jones will not get any salary of that kind from me or anybody else that I know of."

"Personally I am beginning to believe that he will not return to us, but I have no direct news from him, and all I hear about him is from a friend or something in the papers once in a while."

Save the pieces of your broken eye-glasses and take them to Bard, Jeweler and Optician.

What Date for Celebration?

If the semi-centennial of the founding of Sedalia is to be celebrated isn't it about time the date was being fixed and some of the preliminary advertising done? Let's decide whether it shall be a day's celebration or a week of welcome for home-comers—for those who have resided here at some time in the past, but now live elsewhere.

Major William Beck thinks July 4 would be the proper time, and that the selection of that date would bring thousands of visitors to the city. Let's hear from others.
